

720% increase in annual sales!

A building materials supplier partnered with Incentive Solutions to implement a new loyalty program for their top customers. When customers purchased qualifying products, they earned points they could redeem in an online rewards catalog with millions of items including electronics, home goods, event tickets, travel packages, and more. Not only did the new loyalty program drive attributable sales revenue, but incentive management services freed up the supplier's time and resources.

Effective incentive programs require time and attention—but not necessarily yours! One of the best things about working with Incentive Solutions is that we do all the heavy lifting for you. We're incentive program experts with nearly 30 years of experience running programs efficiently. With our incentive management services, clients can spend less time on their incentive program while it drives results.
